CALIFORNIA ELECTION

KALLOCH PROBABLY ELECTED MAYOR OF THE CITY.

The Republicans Appear to Have the State-Only a Third of San Francisco's Vote Canvassed

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4 .-- Scattering returns from all the counties excepting a few which are not in telegraphic connection give Perkins, Republican candidate for Governor, 4,675; Glenn, Democratic, 3,688, and White, workingman's candidate, 2,537. These returns are mostly from small county precincts in interior towns. Returns mainly from the minor interior precincts give Perkins, 7,127; Glenn, 6,005; White, 3,-752. Incomplete returns indicate still further Republican gains. Counting in this city is progressing slowly.

3:30, p. m.—At 2, p. m. nearly one-third of the city vote had been counted with the following result: White, 6,-277; Glenn, 1232; Perkins, 6,078; Kallock, 6796; Griswold, 250; Flint, 6247. This represents probably a fair average of the whole.

From Memphis.

MEMPHIS, September 4.—Twelve new cases, four white and eight colored, were reported to the board of health this morning. Seven deaths have occurred since last night: they are, Thos. Reilly, Mike Scully, Lizzie Schwartz, Attilla Ringert, J. S. Houck, and two colored persons. J. S. Houck died at Buntyn Station. Two colored persons near Springdale, six miles northeast of the city, are sick, one named Gen. J. S. Skeffington is dying, and the other, W. J. Bertin, is progressing favorably. The weather is clear and warm.

Fall River Troubles. Boston, Sept. 4.—A special from Fall River says all the property of Jefferson Borden, one of the founders of Fall River's manufacturing industries and anofficer in many of her banks and other corporations has been attached at the instance of the Fall River Savings Bank, his largest creditor. The bank, however, is willing to release the attachment and share equitably with other creditors. Attachments have been made in consequence of the complications growing out of the downfall. Borden's sons-in-law Walter Pain and George B. Durfee.

South African Affairs.

LONDON, Sept. 4.-A dispatch to the Times from Durban says a cavalry refrom his new kraal. Messengers from etewayo met Sir Garnet Wolseley August 12th, saying that the King was willing to submit and pay taxes, but that the country must be cleared of British soldiers. The messengers were informed that Cetewayo was no longer king and that he must surrender unconditionally.

News from Nordinskjold.

GOTHENBUG, SWEDEN, Sept. 4 .- A telegram has been received here from Professor Nordinskjold, Swedish Arctic explorer, dated Yokohama, September 3d, as follows: "All are well. We left winter quarters on 18th and doubled East Cape on the 20th of July, proceeded thence to Lawrence Bay, Port Clarence and Behring's Island. Have had no sickness and no scurvy. The Vega is in excellent condition.

Off the Track.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4.—No through trains by the Jackson railroad have arrived since Monday. The delay is caused by the ditching of a passenger train and a washout.

Seriously Injured.

PROVIDENCE, Sept., 4.—Robert Hunter, a native of Livingston, Alabama, where his relatives reside, was fataly hurt yesterday by the fall of a telegraph pole which he was engaged in putting ip and died this morning.

The Irish Troubles.

Heading Off the Newspapers. Washington Star, 2d.

criminate as to what information shall be given out by them and what kept back. The order of the Secretary, if persisted in, will work greatly to the disadvantage of the press. The best news that is secured from the departments comes not by routine but by special work of the man hunting it. Under the new order of things, if he wanted to ask a chief of bureau a question, it would have to go through a number of hands, and then the answer would be promulgated by the Assistant Secretary to all of the press. Besides losing an hour or two before getting what he wants, the scribe would lose half the value of the information by its becoming general.

"SWEAR HIM BY FIRE."

A Celestial Innovation Suggested in New York Police Court.

Lee Sing, an industrious linen washer, whose laundry is in East 14th street, appeared single-handed at Essex Market Court, to prosecute John Hern, of First avenue, for assault and battery. Lee Sing indicated by certain Celestial signs, all taken from the zodiac and seen in the almanaes, on various nar-row strips of paper that looked like a Stock Exchange "snake" taken from a broker's waste basket. Justice Duffy examined the mysterious-looking characters, and was forced to admit, with a sigh, his inability to cope with the material before him.

"My experience on the bench," said the Justice, sadly, "has enabled me to understand the four points of the German language. Italian I can catch the drift of, but as yet my experience in Chinese is limited to Bret Harte." At this moment a happy thought struck the Justice, and he addressed Mr. Lee Sing in the universal language of pantomime. The Chinaman caught the inspiration, and forthwith proceeded to imitate the movements of a toy jumping-jack on a string, illustrating how Hern assaulted him. "Swear him by the sacred custom of his own land," snggested Counsellor Hathaway, who appeared for Hern, the prisoner.

"What do you mean?" asked the magistrate. "Swear him by fire, and then see if he'll do that again." "How are you going to do it?" asked the Court.

"Take a newspaper so—," proceeding to fold up a paper into the shape of a torch, "then burn it so the flame will ascend toward Heaven," explained the counselor. "Then let him raise his two

The Justice thought that Lee Sing had been long enough among Christians to tell the truth about an assault upon him, especially as the Chinese connoissance has blown up King Cete-wayo's powder magazines ten miles "I'll take his own statement," he said. The Chinaman seemed to understand every word that had been said, and awaited his opportunity to catch the Justice's eye. He caught it, and again went through the pantomime, giving a comical grin at the counsellor who had opposed him. That was enough. ounsel was non-plussed, and Justice Duffy held Hern in $400 to keep the peace and fined him $10. Lee Sing bowed to the Court, as if satisfied, and

Railroad Discrimination.

When the railroads petition the State for peculiar and exclusive rights, to that extent they invite the State to become a shareholder in their enteprises; and when these rights are granted they are worth more to the roads than any subscription to their stocks. When the railroads are completed and in successful running order, the public expects some substantial return for its investment, and that return can only be made in the shape of low passenger and freight rates, and any discrimination against one person or one section in favor of another person or another section is a violation of the contract impliedly entered into when the roads accept the exclusive privileges for which they petition the public. Upon these relations existing between the people and the railroads the clause in the new constitution is based, though even this clause was not necessary to give the legislature the right to protect the people against a wanton disregard of equity and justice on the part of the

Let our colored friends beware of all such impostors. Something more than benefit to this race is at the bottom of the whole matter. If let alone the colored people will do very well and be contented. Such people as would try to make them dissatisfied with their lot, should be dealt with severely. Their condition can be benefited as much here as anywhere else, if only an effort on their part is put

It is Certainly Dangerous.

It is given out that Sherman is so sensitive on the subject of Federal officials working in his behalf that it is dangerous for an official to conspicuously exert himself to help along the boom." This will serve as a hint to the officials that their proceedings are watched, and they will redouble their exertions accordingly.

About Brass.

If Sherman has to make such elab orate but unsatisfactory explanations before he is nominated for the Presidency, what will become of him if he has the bad luck to be choice of the next Republican convention. His present armor of brass is not half thick enough.

A Matter of Fact. New York Herald.

There is a good deal of fine talk wasted in and out of the press upon the mission of journalism. But as a matter of fact it appears to us that most newspapers are conducted like most hotels and most railways upon the simple business principle of supplying a certain number of customers with something they wish to buy. Precautions Against Yellow Fever---

Examination of Spanish Vessels-The Baltimore Custom House,

Washington, Sept. 3.-So great was the interest taken in the proceedings of the New York Republican Convention, in session at Saratoga to-day, that the morning newspapers issued extras this evening announcing the nomination of Mr. Cornell for Governor. New York Republicans here speak in gloomy terms of the outlook for success. Cornell, it will be remembered, was naval officer of the port of New York and was removed by Sherman, causing a two years' contest in the Senate before a successor could be confirmed. The only hope the Republicans say they have of electing Cornell is that it will compel Senator Conkling to take an active part in the campaign, a thing he has never done since the last election of Grant, excepting last year, when a legislature had to be chosen on which depended his return to the Senate. They say he is a perfect organizer and a giant on the stump and is really the only man in New York whom Tilden fears in a political contest. 'The Grant Republicans are happy over Cornell's selection, as he is counted on as one of the leaders of their third-term project.

YELLOW FEVER PRECAUTIONS. The Second Assistant Secretary of State, acting as secretaryin the absence of Messrs. Evartsend Seward, authorizes a denial of the statement published in many of the newspapers that the Spanish minister had officially informed him that the government of Spain had instructed the authorities in Havana and the other Spanish West Indian ports not to permit the examination by American surgeons of Spanish vessels trading with the United States. Secretary Hunter called the attention of the Spanish minister to the act of Congress imposing a fine of $1,000 on a vessel of any nationality arriving at an American port from places where the yellow fever prevailed without a certificate from the American consul, based on the certificate of the United States sur-ease at the time of sailing. Mr. Hunter gave notice that it was the intention of the government to rigidly enforce the law, and the Spanish minister received the notification without comment further than making the statement that his government had been made fully acquainted with the regulation, and that he had no instruc-

New Work in an Old Field.

Correspondence of the News. To the student of history who, looking from past to present and reading always between the lines of the written record, watches the course of events in this year of our Lord, 1879, no period seem so filled with life of the highest order. Under all political corruption, all social disorder, all doubt and question, wonderful forces are at work, and the keen observer knows that in spite of the cry, old as time itself, "the former days were better than these," no days promise for the future.

since the world began have held such Storms have shaken, wild winds torn away a branch here and there, and destruction has seemed in the air, yet the roots have struck deeper and deeper, till, in spite of blight and storm and shock, the stately tree stands, a shelter for all nations. American life to-day holds such promise of what the generations are to bring, that the worker in any field may look forward to more tangible results of work than at any period of the world's story. The phi lanthropist takes heart as he sees that more and more the spirit of reform is becoming the spirit of the most enlight-ened. Not the wild and often impracticable measures of the enthusiast, the quiet, considerate, well-judged movement, which lays a foundation not in the shifting sand of experiment but on the solid rock of knowledge. Everywhere the desire for better and wiser living shows itself, and every community, however sluggish, owns some minds reaching out for light upon the problems of every day living, and seeking once more the answer to the old question, "What shall we eat, and what shall we drink, and wherewithal shall we be clothed." That the first two clauses underlie all capacity for work-that on their right understanding depends not only our own health, but the health of our children and of others, has come to be almost an axiom; yet the anxious inquirer, ten to one, puts his query, fresh from a meal, whose absurd incongruities, or utter failure to meet his individual requirements, effectually hinder him from attending to such answer as may come. Yet whatever may be his or her calling—author, lawyer, min-ister, teacher, seamstress, blackister, teacher, seamstress, black-smith, day laborer, politician, to one and all alike, the day's food means in great part the good or ill success of the day's work. Years ago Count Rum-

"The number of inhabitants which may be supported in any country, depends as much upon the state of the Art of Cookery as upon that of Agriculture, but if Cookery be of so much importance, it certainly deserves to be studied with the greatest care. Cookery and Agriculture are arts of civilized nations; savages understand neither of them.' To the worker among the poor, especially the poor of our great cities, more crowded together and therefore affording better field for observation and generalization, it had long ago become evident, that the food question under-lay many problems. Intemperance came not from deprayed instinct alone, but from the utter want of relishable food and drink at home. This for the very poorest, whose material must be of the same sort, but who were helpless before its preparation in attractive forms, even as a grade above, the wives of workingmen were helpless, and wasted and destroyed through lack of knowledge, double the amount required, not only for a wholesome but for a plentiful foodsupply. No nation upon earth has such food resources. All that the temperate zone can furnish of delicate, fine grained vegetables, cereals, fruits and meats, has superadded the lavish trop-ical supplies. Yet, day after day, the workingman sits down to an unchanging round of fried steak or bacon, potatoes, watery and soggy from improper cooking, and either baker's bread adulterated and innutritious, or a sour pasty compound known as home made, and a powerful aid toward breaking up any home in which it is the habitual diet. Hog and hominy rule, both in the West and South. The lank and sallow land owner in the Ohio bottoms the lanker and sallower Carolinian or'

Floridian has no notion of what lies hidden for him in the teeming soil on which he stands. Corn must grow for the inevitable hominy or corn bread, but only enough, while the whole world of vegetable delight is beyond WHATIS THOUGHT OF CORNELL'S his ken, and equally beyond his desire.

A varied diet is essential to varied thought. The man bowed down to hog and hominy will think hog and homing the state of the state o ny, and that is all. And varying of diet, by no means, means more extravagant living. On the contrary, it secures, at once the completest economy, if times and seasons are noted, and the meats and vegetables peculiar to each, and as the result, they in their highest perfection, are drawn upon. It requires knowledge, and a knowledge long held, and held even now, to be no part of a lady's office. The young girl looks upon it all as something wholly for servants. The servant struggles on, untrained and stupid, evolving breakfasts and dinners after a theory of her own, and counting herself at last a finished cook, suddenly strikes for higher wages or leaves for an easier place the dismayed mistress facing her pots and pans with an absolute terror, as if they were infernal machines ready to go off at touch.

And truly under such administration

they are infernal machines. There is death in the pot," and will be, till every woman learns that a knowledge of food and its laws is the most vital she can ever acquire. It is no mean and inferior acquisition, no shame to the owner, but the foundation of all good thought. Chemistry and Physiology must be something more than a smattering to the young girl who would know the action of ingredients upon one another, the food best fitted for the varying occupations of a family. The best method of utilizing the food supply. The highest intelligence, the purest observation and judgment she can bring, will all be required, and once mastered she is then and then only. true mistress of the home for which every woman hopes. Her own hands may seldom need to practice the new art, but the capacity for training others is insured. It is a popular delusion that any woman, given the house, can "keep house." Many a woman enters verily upon such experience, who ends discouraged and half heart broken, or peevish and hopelessly ill-tempered over the ills she seems powerless to avert. Training at home should have saved her such experience, but in how many homes is such training even thought of? Yet, in the strange ups and downs of American society no woman can afford to be without such knowledge, for the millionaire of today may be the workingman of tomorrow. If mothers will not, schools must do such part as they can toward a better future in these directions. With such aim the Raleigh Cooking School, at Peace Institute, opens-not alone for cookery, but for the study of household science as a whole, and though no school can fully take the place of home instruction, at least intelligent theory and the best methods known can be brought to bear. If an experiment for the South, there is at least good ground for hoping that it will justify itself, in part at least, as fully as the work in South Kensington,

New York Cooking School. STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished by regular contributors to the News. | GUILFORD. GREENSBORO, Sept. 3.—All crops are good that have been harvested, that yet remain; corn, potatoes and to-bacco are doing well, looking finely, and there seems to be a better feeling in general trade, and people seem more cheerful and show by trade that this is so. Wholesale dealers are busy receiving and selling new fall goods. There are two other branches of trade that show signs of revival of which I will speak hereafter. I will mention, however, right here, that we are informed of increased business in organs and pianos, as W. S. Moore informs us that he has sold ten fine ones since the 18th of March last. He, by the way, represents two or more of the leading makers in organs, that of Mason & Hamlin (the old reliable) and Peloubet, Pelton & Company (standard); also Sterling, Waters and Estey, in organs, and the Waters, Chickering, Mathushek and others in pianos. His wife is also in connection largely engaged in the millinery trade, her customers not only extending from one end of the State to the other, but to adjoining States. I must again refer to the handsome room and furniture fitted up at our railroad depot since last week. It is a mark of respect to the thousands of passengers yearly stopping there.

Court is in session this week, Judge McKoy presiding. Of its doings I will tell you more in my next. PERSON.

ROXBORO, September 1.—Mrs. Moon's meetings here closed to-day, after a continuance of sixteen days, and often three services a day. About eighty persons professed the Christian hope, and among them some of our most prominent citizens. For the most part her meetings were conducted in a very orderly manner, and without that ex-treme noise and outburst of feeling which too often accompany revivals of religion. True, at times, there would be outbursts of feeling, but under circumstances well calculated to excite the highest state of religious feeling. As for herself, she always seemed perfeetly self-possessed and in the highest state of true devotion. Among the subjects of conversion were several old persons: one a great grand-father in his eightieth year, another gentleman seventy-six years old, and others ranging between forty and sixty years, while the great mass who professed hope ranged from forty down to their teens, but very few who might be classed with children. People attended from all of the country and from adjoining counties in large crowds, from day to day, from beginning to close, except when prevented a day or two by rain, and even on rainy the meeting house was very well filled. Never in the memory of our oldest citizens has there been such a deep and wide spread religious interest awakened in this community. And to the praise of our people, everybody treated the good lady with the utmost respect and were very kind to her. Nearly every housekeeper in the village invited her to the hos-pitalities of his house, and she cheerfully accepted the invitations, and thus extended her personal acquaintance in the community. And the doors of the villagers were thrown wide open for the reception of persons who came to attend the meeting, so much so that each seemed to vie with the other in their lavish provision for the accommodation of visitors. Whatever casuists may say as to the propriety of women speaking to the people in public on the subject of religion, in this case at least nearly all opposition has been overcome by the vonderful success attending her labors in this community. The influence has been wonderful, deep, pervasive. Men of stout hearts and strong frame could scarcely meet each other on the street and enter into conversation, in regard to the meetings, without being moved with the deepest emotion, and often to tears. A deep sense of responsibility to God seemed depicted on almost every countenance. The permanent fruits, of course, are yet to be tested.

THE TRADE OF RALEIGH.

THE LEADING BUSINESS MEN IN-TERVIEWED.

The Fall Trade--Goods as Cheap Wholesale and Retail as any Place South of Baltimore.

The NEWS, realizing the importance of an effort to attract the attention of country and village merchants along the lines of the different railroads leading into Raleigh, to the advantages offered them by Raleigh merchants over those of cities further north, will to-day begin the first of a series of articles containing what we judge to be the best means calculated to bring them to a full appreciation of the situation-the statements of the leading business men in the different branches of trade. It will be seen that, without a single exception, they say they can sell goods as cheap as Norfolk or Richmond houses, and in several cases we have their positive declarations that they can, will and do every day sell lower than houses doing business in the above-mentioned places, and give their reasons for the statement. A large number of them stand ready to duplicate any lot of goods in their line, purchased either in Norfolk or Richmond.

We take up the dry goods, clothing, merchant tailoring and millinery trade to-day; to-morrow another branch;

YEARGAN, PETTY & JONES, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN, AND JOBBERS OF DRY GOODS.

As the reporter entered this splendid establishment, he was struck with the magnificent display of goods in their

"How is business, Mr. Y.?" inquired the NEWS. "Good, sir. Our cash receipts for July double those of the same month last

"Well that is doing fine. How was the spring trade this year?" "Increased 25 per cent. over last spring's trade, especially in the wholesale trade; the year's business showing 40 per cent increase.'

"Do you anticipate a good fall trade?" "Yes sir, we have reason to believe that the trade this fall will be greater than for several years past." "What are those reasons?" "There is a great dearth of among the mass of people, household goods and wearing apparel especially; and as the crops are good and the peo-ple generally are in a better condition, it is reasonable to suppose that larger purchases will be made this fall than usual. The crops however, are three weeks behind on account of the drought and although business has already beor the years of successful effort of the gun to revive, we may expect the general trade to be a little later than usual this year."

"Can't this firm sell goods as cheap as Richmond, Norfolk and other places?" "We can and do sell goods cheaper than either Norfolk or Richmond houses do, to North Carolina customers.

"How is that?" "Why, it is as plain as the nose on a nan's face. The usual expenses man's of the country merchants, these further markets, per cent. on their entire purchases; say his purchases are $1,500, that is $150 in favor of Raleigh, Then, on the side of the Raleigh merchant, he sells his goods at 10 per cent. less expense; thus we have 20 per cent. Now if the Raleigh merchant has bought his bought his goods right (as we do of the manufacturers and agents) the country merchants can buy as cheap as on Broadway. We claim to sell goods at wholesale as cheap as either Norfolk, Richmond or Baltimore, for the simple reason that the difference in our expenses and theirs will more than cover the freightage from those points to this place. Parties who buy their goods of us while others at the same place that purchased further north have failed are still in a good financial condition and doing a prosperous business."

A. CREECH, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER AND JOBBER IN DRY GOODS. The large number of clerks employed in this popular and elegant store appeared fully engaged waiting upon customers. This house does a splendid business and its proprietor knows exactly how to fill the wants and suit the tastes of his host of customers, Mr. Creech said business for the past season, had been somewhat affected by the extreme low price of cotton, as many of the farmers sold a large portion of their crops of cotton for seven and three-fourth to eight cents per pound, which barely paid the cost of produc-

But business was now improving and every indication pointed to a very fine trade this fall. The wholesale trade is increasing every year, since our live merchants have an eye single to the wants of the country merchants, and buy from the agents and manufac-turers by the case and package. This enables him to sell goods at such low prices. Country merchants, he said would find it to their interest to make their purchases in Raleigh. He can sell goods as low as any one.

R. B. ANDREWS & COMPANY, WHOLE-SALE AND RETAIL CLOTHIERS.

"Mr. Andrews," asked the reporter as he stepped into this mammoth estab-lishment, "What do you think of the merchant, living within a radius of fifty or one hundred miles of Raleigh, who goes all the way to Norfolk, Richmond or Baltimore to purchase his goods?"
"Well, sir, I hardly know what to think of him. It is astonishing how many there are who make this great mistake. I have in my house to-day, suits that I am offering at exactly the same price that a New York merchant is daily selling the identical goods. I can supply North Carolina merchants with my line of goods as cheap as they can be bought, either in Norfolk, Richmond or Baltimore, to say nothing of freightage from those places here; and why it is that our village and country merchants persist in carrying their money out of the State instead of keeping it at home and building up their own State, I confess it is beyond my power of imagination to conceive. This firm thought the Spring trade for this year as good as usual; that, by strenuous exertions, they had done a better business during the summer months than they did in the Spring; thought business had already begun to show signs of improvement, and expect this fall's trade to exceed the sales of any season for a number of years. JOSEPH P. GULLEY-DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING.

Mr. Gulley thought the spring trade this year had been a little better than usual; that the summer months trade would compare favorably with the sales for the same timelast year, and that business had already begun to pick ap. He anticipated a healthy fall trade, but did not imagine that it would meet the expectations of some. He can and will sell goods to North Carolina customers, wholesale or retail, as cheap as they can be bought in Richmond or Norfolk. He seemed to be doing a

AND CLOTHING. This prosperous firm thought the spring trade this year above the average; the sales for the summer months very good for that season of the year, and that business was beginning to show signs of improvement. They expect a better fall trade than usual, and assured us that they would sell goods in their line as cheap as Richmond or Norfolk houses.

J. M. ROSENBAUM-WHOLESALE AND

RETAIL CLOTHIER. Mr. Rosenbaum said he could sell goods as cheap as any house south of Baltimore, and would duplicate any order filled by a Richmond or Norfolk

He thought the spring trade this year as good as usual; had no reason to complain of the summer months' trade, and expected a good fall trade; reason for expecting it, was because the trade was dull last fall and the prospects for fine crops this season are good.

WILLIAM WOOLCOTT-DRY GOODS AND

Mr. Woolcott said the spring trade this year was pretty dull, and that the summer months' trade would compare favorably with that of last year." He thought the prospects were good for an increased trade this fall for the reason that business had been dull last season, and the cotton yield this year being above the average, it was reasonable to entertain such expectations, etc. He will sell goods as cheap as any house south of Baltimore. L. ROSENTHAL & COMPANY, DEALERS IN DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING.

Spring trade was a little better than usual. Business this summer is good, considering the season of the year. Couldn't tell much about the fall trade just now; trade has not improved any as yet. "I can sell goods," said Mr.R. "as cheap as any Norfolk or Richmond house.

GEO. SLOMAN AND CO., RETAIL DRY GOODS DEALERS.

Last spring's trade dull; summer months duller than usual and trade has not begun to revive as yet. Expect the fall trade to be about as usual: no reason for thinking it will be better or worse than last year. Can sell as cheap as Norfolk or Richmond houses. M. ROSENBAUM, RETAIL DRY GOODS DEALER.

The spring and summer trade this year has been better than usual. No perceptible signs of the fall trade have as yet begun; expects a good fall trade and can retail as cheap as Norfolk or

MRS. M. A. HARDIE, MILLINER.

Spring trade is good, the summer months were on an average. Trade has not commenced for the fall. Will duplicate any order filled by a Norfolk or Richmond house for millinery or fancy goods. I. GETTINGER, MILLINERY. The spring and summer trade this year has been moderately good. Business has not revived a great deal as yet; don't expect the general trade to begin before the latter part of the month. Anticipate a good fall trade. Sell goods in my line as cheap as any Norfolk or Richmond house, not added. Do considerable in the job bing line." L. LEVY, FURNISHING GOODS.

Spring trade a little duller than usual; summer months about as good as same time previous year; prospects for fall trade good and expects to do a good business. He will sell goods in his line as cheap as any house in Richmond or Norfolk.

T. R. LOADER, MERCHANT TAILOR. The spring and summer trade this year has been better than usual. Business has already begun to show signs of improvement, and a good fall trade is expected. Can do work in our line as cheap as Norfolk or Richmond

C. WEIKEL, MERCHANT TAILOR. Business in our line has been duller than usual during the spring and summer months. Trade is beginning to improve and there is reason to believe that the fall trade will be good. Can fill orders as cheap as Norfolk or Richmond houses.

JOSEPH KRETH, MERCHANT TAILOR. Spring and summer trade some better than same seasons last year. The fall trade has commenced and have every reason to expect a good season. Can fill orders in our line as cheap as Richmond or Norfolk houses.

Goldsboro's "Boom."

Goldsboro Messenger, 4th. Our cotton shipments the past year foot up thirty thousand bales, a decided increase over the year previous, the more apparent when the fact of short crop is taken in consideration. This increase is readily accounted for. It comes from new tributary regions, and is mainly attributable to the fact that Goldsboro is fast getting to be the best inland cotton market in the State. We have at all times a strong competition among our cotton buyers, all of whom command ample capital, and the natural result of this is that they must buy at the closest margin compared with New York prices, thus offering induce-ments that the producer cannot hope for elsewhere. As a market Goldsboro is, without exception, the equal of Wilmington, Newbern, Raleigh or Fayetteville. Merchandise of every description is sold here as cheap, if not cheaper, than in any of the towns named. Our merchants are clever and wide-awake. They carry immense stocks and can sell cheap and compete successfully, because of lower freight charges, reasonably low rents, the comparative immunity from taxation, the absence of heavy debts that weigh down all the communities named, the moderate scale of wages, and lastly the certainty of quick transportation. Our business houses are eminently solid, and many of them are rated at the top of the tree of financial soundness. Then the strong competition to which the trade of the town is subjected makes it an object with every merchant to secure every advantage in purchases, that he may be enabled to sell cheapest.

GEN. GORDON'S VIEWS.

THE SENATOR ON GEN. GRANTS DECLINATION.

The Only Chance for the Republican Party-Grant Cannot be Elected President Again.

Kung?

Atlanta Constitution. I met General Gordon at the capitol, and asked him what he thought of General Grant's interview with Prince

"I cannot put much confidence," said he, "in the apparent motive of General Grant's words. It seems to me that he does not decline positively, but rather puts himself in the attitude of being able to say, in case of the failure of his party to give him the nomination, that he has declined it, and in case it is tendered to him to say that it came to him unsought and over his protest. I must confess, therefore, that I cannot consider this a declination on the part of General Grant. It would be very easy for him to speak positively upon the subject." "Do you not think it would be accepted as positive by the country?" "I do not know. I do think this: do not believe that General Grant could be elected if he were nominated, and I think the party managers know that to be true. The articles of the Herald on Caesarism of several years ago made an ineffaceable impression upon the American mind, and General Grant's nomination now or hereafter would be flagrantly in violation of the spirit that inspired those articles and an outrage upon the sentiment of the country. The example of Washington has been so strengthened by continued examples that it has become the unwritten law of the country and one of our most essential laws. The people will not see it violated, save in some tremendous emergency. No emergency exists at present, except the emergency of a few dispossessed office holders. So I say this feeling against a third term would inevitably defeat General

Grant, even if there were no vulnerable points in his record and weakness in his administration. "In addition to this," continued General Gordon, "I do not believe that any stalwart can carry the country in 1880, or ever again. The only chance for the Republican party, in my opinion, is to nominate some man of liberal and patriotic views, who can win back to the ranks the liberal men wno have been driven out of them. If I thought this country could be carried on a se tional or violent platform next yearafter war has been closed for fifteen years—after the peace-loving, law-abiding record of the South for the past six years—I should almost despair of the republic. I should know to a certainty that we need never hope for complete national harmony and reconciliation, and that the South would be held in continual and lasting subjection to the North, or that some fearful disaster would befall us. Of course, if General Grant is sincere in his words, they are very important. But whether he is sincere or cunning, I do not think he could be elected President again; first, because the American people will nev-er give a third term of the Presidency to any living man, and, secondly, be-cause he has represented, and still represents, through his friends, a policy of proscription and sectionalism that can never again, in my opinion, carry this country. It could not do it in 1876; it will never again come so

THE POLITICAL SITUATION. Talks with Democrats at White Sulphur Springs.

Washington Star, 2d. Dr. R. B. Bradford, of Ohio, who has been all summer at the White Sulphur Springs of Virginia, returned here to-day. The Doctor is well known in political circles, and is an acute observer. He says he met, while there, General Bob Toombs, of Georgia, who says that in his State there will be no division of the Democracy in 1880, in reference to the Presidential election; that the Independents of the State will ardently support the national candi-dates of the Democracy; that the split in the party in Georgia has not been upon issues that can possibly be involved in a national campaign, but that they have arisen simply out of the character of the conventions, and the determination of aspiring men that they shall not be excluded from place by caucus conventions. He speaks of great admiration of Senator Thurman, and believes that his nomination would be heartily indorsed by the Democracy of Georgia. "But," says the General, "there is a wide-spread conviction with the honest country people that a great national wrong has been committed, and that Tilden has been the victim of it, and a strong persuasion that the wrong should be righted." The Doctor says he met also General Geary, of South Carolina, a much better talker and more reliable observer than the loquacious Mackey. General Geary insists that South Carolina went for Tilden in the last campaign, and he could have demonstrated it beyond peradventure to the committee which was sent into the State to inquire into the matter. He believes that South Carolina will give from 15,000 to 20,000 majority for the nominee of the next Democratic convention. General Geary is not an ardent admirer of Governor Wade Hampton, nor does he believe that Hampton, in his present extreme conservative position, represents the Democrats of South Carolina. "I think," says Dr. B., "the General, though I am not authorized to say so, believes that Hampton is thereafth. believes that Hampton is thoroughly modified in all his present public expressions by a vision of future advancement." Dr. B. also saw and talked with J. Randolph Tucker. The operation upon his eye has been an entire success. He never was in finer spirits or looked better, and he is the most popular and courted personage at the springs. General Cabell, M. C., of Virginia, whom the doctor saw daily, favors the nomination of Allen G. Thurman or Senator Bayard, but he regards Tilden's as one of the best executive intellects in the country, and has a strong apprehension that he will be the Democratic nominee. Governor Matthews, of West Virginia, has also been a guest at the White Sulphur during the season. The doctor encountered him on many occasions. Governor Matthews says that there is not a surer State in the nation than the electoral vote of his own for the next Democratic preference for candidates.

Year an, Petty & Jones sell the Mile-ter of tf Spool Cotton, and their salesmen say when a lady once uses it she will ask for no other afterward.

THE Sun intimates that General William F. Smith, late police commissioner of New York, may loom up as the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York.

THE Wilkesboro Index is a new candidate for public favor. It is conducted by H. H. Crowson, formerly of the Morganton Blade, and will undoubtedly supply a need that Wilkesboro has felt.

THE Sun takes great credit to itself for its course regarding the Sprague scandal, and also takes occasion to compliment the Herald for doing likewise. So would we if we had received pay for the services rendered.

THE Norfolk papers are having their annual excitement over the opening of the oyster season. "Luscious bivalves," "noble shellfish" and "juicy oyster" are about the only words we shall see mentioned for the next month.

In another column will be found the introductory number of a series of of articles on the "Art of Cookery," written by a lady of wide experience. The number that appears this morning will state satisfactorily the object to be attained, and is hoped will prove of general interest and advantage to all.

THE Brooklyn Eagle asks this pertinent question: Will the Associated Press distribute over the country the Democratic campaign speeches in Ohio as readily as those that have been made on the other side? Heretofore there have been some remarkable instances of partiality in matters of that kind.

HERE is more solid comfort for our business men. The Durham Recorder has the following:

Mr. W. W. Mangum is now having the lumber placed on the ground for the erection of a new tobacco warehouse on the lot near the Baptist Church. We have not learned exactly the disposition of it, but believe it will be built to rent to parties already engaged.

SECRETARY SHERMAN, in commenting on the public debt statement for August, said but for the heavy payments on the arrears of pensions the debt would have been decreased over $6,000,000 during August. He says the revenues are slowly but steadily increasing, and all arrears of pensions will be met this year, after which there can be heavy reductions made in the

On Monday last the circulation of the Atlanta Constitution reached 10,000. It was a day of general rejoicing throughout the office, and a general presentation of canes took place. The Constitution has fought its way up, steps by step, and it now stands at the head of Southern journalism. It has always displayed firmness without bigotry in discussing public matters, and has shown an appreciativeness of the wants of its constituency that has been reciprocated in a substantial manner.

THE Patriot, published in Tallahassee, has been purchased by ex-Senator Conover, and flies the flag of "Sherman and Settle." Mr. Conover is opposed to General Grant. He is now in Washington, and gives the information that the Republican party is in fine organization in Florida, and that Florida will be the State which will prevent the South from being solid for the Democratic candidate in the next Presidential election.

THE Boston Transcript, a Republican journal, has this to say concerning Senstor Conkling and the Saratoga Convention: "After what has transpired, if Mr. Conkling retains his ascendency in the Republican councils of New York, it must be because the majority of decent members of the party have moved out It will be a crucial test of the quality of Republicanism in the Empire State, whether or not it submits longer to leadership which anywhere else would be cast off with unmistakable loath-

THE superintendent of the census is everrun with applications for positions in his bureau. He says that the great majority of the applicants are evidently in ignorance of the act of Congress providing for the taking of the census. The number of clerks allowed by the law is as follows: A chief clerk, six clerks at $1,800 a year, ten at $1,600, fifteen at $1,400, with such number at $1,200, and of copyists, and computers at not less than $700 or more than $1,000, as may be found necessary. The law provides for the taking of the enumeration in June, 1880, and until that time there will be little clerical work to do. The enumerators are not to be appointed until the 1st of March, 1880.

THE indications are that the public will be surfeited with details of the Sprague scandal before long, no matter whether it is carried into the courts or not. Governor Sprague denies "in toto" the charges made against him by his wife in her statement of causes which induced her to leave Canonchet, but so far he has not publicly indulged in any counter charges. He is reported as saying that he means to to take immediate steps to regain possession of his children. Mrs. Sprague will no doubt resist, as it seems now that she took the little girls away by advice of her counsel. The first outbreak of the scandal was quieted, after a few days, by the refusal of all the parties immediately interested to talk. Mrs. Sprague did allow the press to publish a letter setting forth her complaints but that was not until the sensation was on the wane. Now she is quite free in making ugly charges, and it is not improbable that the husband, if his temper be what she describes it, will be driven to retaliate. Then it will not need a divorce suit to give all the details of the disagreeable affair to the

THE VIRGINIAN DEBT WAR. To look at the Virginian papers and that the editorial fraternity had gone that apparently furnished no clue to the questions involved outsiders are at a loss to understand the nature of the arguments, whether political so far as party lines are drawn or otherwise. The FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER - 5, 1879. situation stands about like this: Party lines are obliterated in that State for the present, at least, and the people are divided upon the State debt question. Those who believe in paying the debts of the State are supporting the McCulloch compromise adopted by the legislature last winter. As the debt was contracted before the State was disided, it was deemed fair that West Vi ginia should pay it's proportion, and the McCulloch plan provides for this. It leaves the new State to pay one-third in any manner its people may devise. The two-thirds assumed by the old State is to be paid in full, bearing 3 per cent. interest for the first ten years, then 4 per cent., and then 5 up to the payment of the debt. The unpaid interest on the principal of the debt amounts to a large sum, and this is to be funded at fifty cents on the dollar and bear the same rate of interest as the principal. This compromise was accepted by the creditors of the State, and the best authenticated reports are that it will be ratified by the people.

CONKLING'S TRIUMPH.

Of the four hundred and twenty-six delegates who on Wednesday represented the Republican party of the State of New York in convention at Saratoga, the Hon. A. B. Cornell received the support of two hundred and thirty-four on the first ballot, thus securing the nomination for Governor. We presume Mr. Conkling is satisfied; but the question is, "Is the party in New York satisfied?"

At first sight it would appear as if the question had already been decided in the affirmative, but really this is not the case. When Senator Conkling commenced his war against the administration he lost many staunch supporters, men that previously had stood through thick and thin by the Utica statesman. President Hayes' course at the outset had secured to him the warm support of many moderate Republicans, and when Mr. Conkling opened his unwarrantable attack on the President's Southern and Civil Service policy they changed front with wonderful rapidity and vigor and boldly avowed the determination not to support his claims to the Presidency. And these are men also that don't change their minds with every passing

Mr. Cornell is one of the least popular men that the New York Republicans could have put up. George B. Sloan was considered the strongest. Yet party machinery in certain strong Stalwart districts enabled Mr. Conkling to carry the convention; we have vet to see if he can State.

The result has shown that with the active gentlemen who run primaries and manage conventions in the various counties of that State Senator Conkling is more powerful than all the statesmen combined who have actively placed themselves on record as his adversaries; but the absence of many noted political wire-pullers makes the fact conspicuous that he has developed his full strength in the convention, leaving behind him a large "indifferent" portion who entertain a strong dislike for him personally. This negative action is due to the fact that he has his seat in the Senate secured for the next five years, where he will be in a position, to a certain degree, to help his friends or punish his enemies more than any visible opponent can be expected to do. At the same time the lukewarm Republicans see that should the Senator make another mistake his influence is gone and his friendship would prove a curse.

Another thing, Mr. Fenton wants the Senatorship. His support of Mr. Conkling will, therefore, be extremely

POLITICAL NOTES.

The campaigning failures of John Sherman have been the most noteworthy political events of the season

thus far. The St. Louis Times Journal says that under its new management it is going to be independent, giving its political support to such men as it regards best. Anti-Tammany has agreed to carry its fight with Tammany into the Democratic State Convention. As before, the two wings of the party in New York city will each send a delegation, each claiming to be the only true and simon pure representative Democracy. The Philadelphia Record inquires: Why cannot the Democrats of Pennsylvania rise to the height of their op. portunity and cast the vote of the State for Thomas F. Bayard? If they cannot assist in electing a President, they may assist in naming one who can be elected, and whose selection will be an honor to the party, and a credit to the coun-

The Tammany general committee has issued an address urging the Democracy of the western part of New York to refrain from forcing Lucius Robinson for the Governor, and suggesting that there are many able Democrats throughout the State who are eminently qualified for the position; that Tammany has no candidate, and desires to urge no special name, but, that if Robinson should forced upon the convention, Tammany would oppose him, unqualifiedly, as an organization in convention and before the people.

No Serious Opposition. Atlanta Constitution.

There is no serious opposition to Mr. Tilden in the South, and no enthusiasm in his favor. His failure to receive the nomination of the National Democratic convention would gratify the prejudice of a few very unimportant persons here and there through the country; his nomination would insure him the support of every Southern Democrat whose for anything. Of cours the South has her preferences as well To look at the Virginian papers and as her prejudices, but she will be satisfied with the work of the National the State debt war one would think Democratic convention. So far as Mr. Tilden is concerned, his fate will be decided before the year is out. If the crazy. With allusion to the McCulloch Democrats carry New York, he will be compromise and the "re-adjusters" I the nominee of the party.

For the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of two years ne has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reducee that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying; two of the number declaring that he was beyond the years of hymnan remedies that even the reach of human remedies, that even amoutation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him Vege-tine, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed his studies, thrown away his crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge from the opening where the limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your sys tem and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an imnediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syruphas gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Cough, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous terman prescription, ane is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions.
The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there as been a constant increasing demand rnd without a single report of a failure o do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth. The treatment prescribed in such cases is The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin or cleansing purposes.

Humor on a Child

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Med-ical Treatment had failed. Messrs, Weeks & Potter : Gentlemen, My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the child ear, and side of the head. It must the child ear, and side of the head. It must have thehed and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface all the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physican without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully, JOHN L. SURRY.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colo ado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommend it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them." ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin St., Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

Prickly Heat.

Messrs, Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen.— Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of Cuticura. The small one that I re-ceived some time ago has been very effica-cious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly, THOMAS W. BUCKLEY. Mason, Texas, Sept. 22, 1878.

Incidental to the Texan Climate.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruif and keeps the scalp ciean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted, in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of intants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing and is the most fragrant and refreshing soap for the nursery and bath of any these prepared.
Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to tne youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and the companying each remedy.

The advertisement of this representaive business man appears in the NEWS this morning. Captain Thomas is a successful merchant in the strictest sense of the word. His name stands second to none for reliability and fair dealing. His capital is ample to accommodate his customers and thus often ave them large margins by enabling them to hold cotton for better prices, and his stock of supplies is bought for cash, which enables him to offer still further inducements to trade with him We quote as follows from his fourth annual circular which is just out. "Last season many of my friends stored with me and I am glad to be able to state that those who held on until the spring realized large profits by the heavy advance in the staple at that time. For such who wish to hold their crops this year, I have ample storage room, and upon any cotton they may see fit to leave with me, will make liberal cash advances, with ow rate of interest and storage charges. By constant and unceasing exertions, think I have my business pretty horoughly systematized, and would be glad to have you call at my office whenever you come to Raleigh. I have in store and to arrive, 1,000 bundles new arrow ties, 500 bundles spliced ties, (all arrow buckles) 500 rolls and 500 half-rolls bagging, all weights, 500 pounds bagging twine and a full supply of meat, meal, flour, corn, etc., all of which I am so situated as to be able to

The Centennial Graded School.

This school, up to date, has five hunlred and sixty-nine scholars on the oll. The principal, Captain Dugger, informs the reporter that he needs more teachers and more room, in order to do ustice to these little ones. This school has been worked up to an unknown success in pedagogism, with many obstacles to contend with during the last three years, and its present success is greatly due to Captain Dugger's efforts in its behalf. Will not the citizens take hold of this matter and comply with the principal's wishes?

If you wish to get the best go to Yeargan, Petty & Jones and ask for a spool of Mile-End cotton. They sell over five hundren dozen of this every month-the best spool cotton in use.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPA, April 22, 1879. —The following correspondence will explain itself: A. Waddill, Esq., Lynchburg, Va.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass." of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness o inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a co-scription of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even tem-porary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully, WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.-WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the Seven Springs, Mass," is before me, The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, neart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for vasatisfactory, I am, very truly, A, WAD-OILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News. For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh, N. C., and Druggists generally.

Refuses to Pay.

The Ætna Life Insurance Company recently represented in our community by W. H. Crow, Esq., of Raleigh, has notified the administrator and the children of the late Colonel R. L. Patterson, of Salem, that they will not pay the policies upon his life. These policies amounted to twenty thousand dollars, and were written in the year 1866. Colonel Patterson paid several thousand dollars upon them, and for this Company to refuse to pay these policies is simply outrageous, and is only equaled by the general reputation which foreign life insurance companies have established in our community Many of our citizens have recently taken policies with this company, an the course indicated in the case of Colonel Patterson is what their families may expect in case of their death. In same connection we will state that the North Carolina State Life Insurance Company which carried a policy of one thousand dollars upon Colonel Patterson's life, promptly notified the widow of Colonel Patterson, through their agent, James A. Gray, that they will pay the full amount upon maturity. Mark the contrast of patronizing home institutions.

"REFUSES TO PAY." So writes a man, without giving his name, but evidently a resident of the town of Winston. The writer spent more than two weeks in the prosperous and enterprising towns of Winston and Salem, and he had the pleasure of becoming acquainted with many of their best citizens, and several of them applied for and obtained policies in the staunch and reliable old Ætna. This company has been before the American people for many years, having been chartered in 1820. Its record for honesty and fair dealing-having faithfully. fulfilled its contracts-has long since been effectually established.

For fourteen years the writer has had the honor of being the manager and general agent for North Carolina and that portion of Virginia south of James river, and not in one single case has he ever known the company to decline or hesitate to pay promptly any and every just claim. In all well-managed insurance companies, both life and fire, there are certain requirements made of the insured, and plainly written in the policies, and these requirements are absolutely necessary for the welfare of all the insured as well as for the permanency of the companies themselves. If, however, there be companies that do not have any checks or safeguards. then, of course, such companies should pay their policies as long as they can hold out to do so. Every policy-holder should read his or her policy carefully, and if willing to accept the conditions, receive the policy; if not, refuse to take it. The following policies, issued by the Ætna Life Insurance Company in North Carolina, have been paid through the Raleigh agency, and the list speaks
